Brief History

Built for the British Ministry of Defence and launched on 19th December 1952, 'Osprey' started life as the Ham Class minesweeper 'HMS Chillingham'. In 1969 'HMS Chillingham' was de-commissioned, purchased privately and converted to a motor yacht. Under the various names of 'Finola', 'Mangusta', 'Vana of Cranborne' and finally 'Osprey' she has been cruising globally ever since. Her current owner purchased her in 2006 and has allowed her to be brought up to an exacting standard required of today's luxury charter yachts; she is now a credit to her owners.
